CORONER INVESTIGATES PECULIAR LOCAL CASE

Unusual Aspects Revealed in Case of Infant's Death

SAD STORY IS RELATED

Husband Tells of Wife's Departure With Greek, Who is Now Under Arrest

The story of what seems to have been a peculiar infatuation of a woman for a tall and handsome young Greek, who lays no claim to a title or distinction—the kind of infatuation that caused her to leave her husband and four small children to take up a questionable destiny with one who could scarcely make himself understood in her tongue—was partly revealed Monday when Coroner James T. Heffran started investigations into the death of an infant born to the woman last Friday. Mike Cresoulie is the name of the Greek and Monessen was his former home.

Coroner Heffran came here with County Detective William McCleary Monday afternoon to unravel some of the mysteries surrounding the death of the child. The story had been told of the alleged neglect of the babe and if its having been laid away for some hours in a dark closet when it was subsequently cared for by a Slavish woman who rendered neighborly kindnesses to the sick mother Cresoulie, was placed in the lockup on Sunday and a nurse procured for the woman with whom he has been living as his wife. He will be kept there until after an inquest to be conducted by Coroner Heffran on Wednesday afternoon.

No marriage ceremony was thought necessary, it seems, when the Greek and the woman, who is only 23 years old, came here from Monessen. Papers of separation had been drawn up between her and her husband. Otto Gerlach of Monessen, according to the husband's story. That was four or five months ago. Cresoulie and the woman, mated by their own volition so peculiarly, occupied the basement of a house on Fallowfield avenue near Ninth street. There they lived quietly until the birth of the child.

The husband, Otto Gerlach, was summoned here from Monessen Monday afternoon to tell his story to Coroner Heffran and County Detective McCleary. He said that he knew of the Greek having met his wife on the street on different occasions and told a sad story of her going away.

"She had informed me she was going to leave," he said. "But the afternoon she went she came to me, dressed for the street and sobbingly said that she wasn't going to leave. Drying her tears she started for the grocery to procure necessities for the Sunday dinner. She failed to show up that night or the next. That— that Greek in the lockup met her, I guess, and she wasn't strong enough to resist his invitation to go away. They went to Pittsburgh where they stayed a short time. An attorney drew up papers of separation later for us. Then I suppose they came to Charleroi."

The woman betrayed an unusual interest in the Greek after he had been locked up and said he had been good (Continued on Third Page.)

PASTOR LEAVES CHARGE

Rev. Joseph Daniele Transferred to Mahoningtown

REV. MASELLI COMES

Rev. Joseph Daniele, who for the past three years has been pastor of the Mother of Sorrows Italian Catholic church in Charleroi has been transferred to Mahoningtown, a suburb of New Castle, together with the chaplaincy of the New Castle Hospital. He will be succeeded here by Rev. Father Maselli of Monongahela. The latter's church at Monongahela was turned some time ago and as it will not be rebuilt for some time yet, he has been assigned to Charleroi.

During his pastorate here Rev. Daniele has made many friends and established most cordial relations with the people generally to whom he extends his parting regards. While here he has very materially extended his parish, which now numbers about 123 families and he leaves with no indebtedness for his successor to assume. An earnest Christian worker, a conscientious citizen and a thorough gentleman, Rev. Daniele will carry with him the regrets of a wide circle of friends in addition to those of his parishioners whom he has so well and faithfully served. He will leave Thursday for his new field of labor.

CHILD EATS MEAT; DEATH IS RESULT

Peculiar Case Reported From Roscoe--Lining of Stomach Burned Out When Girl Was 18 Months Old

A tiny morsel of meat caused the death of Mabel Geraldine Price the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Price at Roscoe on Sunday. Her funeral occurred today.

When but 18 months old the child swallowed some lye. Terrible sufferings resulted. According to the attending physician the lining of her stomach was eaten off by the fiery substance.

The physician had warned the parents to never give the child solid food such as meat. Every precaution had been taken by her mother to keep the child from getting meat. The small particle had always been sufficient to cause the child to suffer great pains or to cause illness for several days, necessitating the calling of the physician.

On Tuesday morning of last week while the mother's back was turned the little girl happened to notice a piece of meat and helped herself to it. The mother turned around just in time to see the child put it into her mouth. Before she could cross the floor and take it from her she had swallowed it. Before night the child was ill.

Not until Friday was a doctor called. Then it was realized that death was certain. Rev. H. H. Ryland conducted the services today at 2 o'clock.

ASSAULT VICTIM IN THE HOSPITAL

Monongahela Man in Bad Condition From Attack of Foreigner

"Bill" Sedhem of Monongahela is in the Memorial hospital at that place suffering from terrible injuries about the head said to have been inflicted with a brick by "Jim" Martino, a Monongahela foreigner. Frank Donatella, a contractor of Donora is also suffering injuries. The story is told that Martino was working at a new building on the opposite side of the river from Monongahela under Donatella. Enraged through a disagreement he is said to have laid out Donatella with a shovel and to have fled across the bridge. Half way over he is understood to have encountered Sedhem, with whom he had had a quarrel before. Martino is alleged to have knocked him down and to have beaten him unconscious with a brick. Then it is claimed he fled again. He has not been arrested and is believed to have skipped the town. Sedhem is in bad condition.

Indianapolis Club to Play Exhibition Baseball Game

OTHERS SEEK CONTESTS

Washington Independents Wanted to Play Here--More Men Report Today

Before the Indianapolis Federal league baseball club goes to Pittsburgh on May 6 to play its first game with the Pittsburghers, Charleroi people will have a opportunity to see the team as it will probably be made up for the season in an actual game. Arrangements are being made to play a benefit for the Charleroi playgrounds. Manager Phillips having consented to arrange such an attraction. Perhaps the Charleroi Independents may try their strength against the Indianapolis aggregation or perhaps the game will be from two teams picked from Phillips' men.

Another game that may be arranged before the team makes its getaway is that with the Washington Independents. Manager E. H. Sackville of that organization has written to Manager Phillips asking for a game and the request may be granted.

This morning four of the players who thus far have reported were out for a workout. They were France and Swaney, pitchers; Miller an outfielder and Durrell a catcher. Barum a Carnegie lad has reported.

Four players came in this morning. They are Scott, a star third baseman, who last year was in the Central league; Reis a youthful pitcher with loads of promise who was last year in the Central; Beebe of Indianapolis a lad with a record as a twirler and Miller a pitcher of Aspinwall.

It will probably be Thursday before the best kind of work of training will be done. Most of the players are in good shape to begin with having been working out at their homes.

HAS BIG DISPLAY HOUSES

Floral Establishment of I. V. Kinder Among Largest

HAS MANY GERANIUMS

The largest greenhouse along the Monongahela valley that is under a single roof is located at Charleroi. It is the greenhouse owned by I. V. Kinder, the florist, and is located on his property a short distance west of town. Completely filled with spring stock, with geraniums, roses and flowers of various varieties blooming brilliantly and ferns, the greenhouse presents a grand, gorgeous appearance.

Mr. Kinder is an experienced florist and in addition is a good business man. He came here from West Brownsville about three years, buying a portion of the John H. Frye farm west of Charleroi. He established one greenhouse, locating it so as to give southern exposure. Since then his business has expanded through energetic and persistent effort. An extension has been built to the initial greenhouse, until the total length of the present greenhouse is 360 feet, with a 40-foot width.

The spring trade in flowers has just started. Five hundred geraniums were removed Monday and their removal hardly made a dent in the total stock. On Sunday there were close to 18,000 geraniums in pots. They filled the greater portion of the main display greenhouse, but there were ferns and lilies and numerous varieties of plants in this big room. Roses and carnations in various stages of development are on display. Plants of all kinds are there each trying to out rival the other for beauty and splendor. There are about 9,000 carnation plants in bloom.

Mr. Kinder heats his entire floral establishment by a single heating plant that is in many respects similar to an up-to-date power plant of a small factory. In the heating and Late this summer or this fall Mr. Kinder will open up a store at 608 Fallowfield avenue. Miss May Kinder is now taking a special course in display work and decorating at a school in Philadelphia, and she will be placed in charge of the store. It is the intention of Mr. Kinder to make Charleroi the center for a large business. Already he has a city trade of respectable proportions and he is becoming known all along the valley.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

A bill has passed both houses of the legislature and is up to the governor providing that all municipalities of 12,000 population and over must provide a public comfort station. This is a public waiting room with toilet accessories that must be maintained for the accommodation of the public, on similar lines to a well appointed railroad station house. If the governor signs the bill Monessen will be obliged to establish a public comfort station but Charleroi will be exempt.

The need for such an institution is obvious. As a civic institution it would be a good investment for any town. One of the most serious drawbacks to out of town people is comfortable place to rest or wait, or a place where a shopper can leave parcels until ready to start for home.
Few if any towns ever think of making such a provision. The large up-to-date department stores provide rest and waiting rooms for ladies mostly, but there is no place with similar accommodations for men or those who do not find it convenient to go to big stores. The railroad stations are always utilized for this purpose to the fullest extent, but a municipality seldom provides anything for the public comfort of visitors and this is left to private enterprises if it is provided at all.

Any town that does not have adequate hitching places for horses and teams, a public market square and public comfort stations for visitors sacrifices thousands of dollars worth of outside trade annually. It is true
now with the parcels post the out of town woman who dreads to come to town to do a little shopping and then put in time waiting for a train or trolley car with no place to wait in comfort will take advantage of the order service. The public comfort station ought to be an institution in every town without having to have a law to compel a municipality to be hospitable to those who come to spend their money.

GAMBLING.

The determination of District Attorney Miller to break up gambling so far as possible over the county will meet with the hearty approval of all good citizens generally. From the petty catch penny devices, the baseball and racing pools to the poker or faro joint is an easy transition, and the action of the district attorney in holding his constables responsible throughout the county for the suppression of these forms of gambling that are conducted publicly and openly will have a material effect in eliminating the training schools of crime.

This gambling instinct is probably fostered by the lack of opportunity for legitimate recreation and sport on the part of young and growing boys. With nothing to take their attention and little opportunity to engage personally in clean athletic sports, they flock to resorts conducted for the express purpose of exploiting their slender earnings and gambling follows. If they cannot play or witness baseball games themselves they can bet on the results of the big league teams and one device quickly leads to another. Gambling is one of the most vicious and demoralizing of the vices and until means are provided to take better care of the boys who work all day and loaf about the streets nights with no elevating place to occupy themselves the demoralizing influences will continue.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"What about that road between here and Speers?" queried a Charleroi business man whose trade extends up the river and who has to constantly traverse the route in question with his delivery wagons.
"I remember very distinctly you flushed the intelligence early in the fall of 1911 that State Highway Commissioner Bigelow, who came to Charleroi for the purpose of looking the route over, promised that the road would be improved yet that fall. That promise failed to materialize, and then all through the year of 1912 came the assurance that the improvement would be made. Bids were even advertised for, but rejected as not suitable.

"Then we heard reports from time to time that engineers were at work —I know a corp has been quartered in town here for a long time—and that rights of way for certain changes were holding the work up. All I know is that the road is still the worst probably, in the state, and that it is virtually impassable from one year's end to another. I am safe in saying that the condition of that road has cost me hundreds of dollars during the past few years, in addition to cutting off lots of business I could otherwise get.

"The year 1913 has already got a good start, and unless they advertise for bids soon I don't see how the road can be built before winter again sets in."

"In the matter of gambling, who ultimately gets the money?" was asked a day or two ago, when the matter was under discussion. "I've known a number of would-be sports in my time, but each and every one was habitually broke. Some time I would hear that this or that one had won a pot—$50, $75, perhaps $100 or more—but the stage of affluence never seemed to last. It always appeared to me that some one in the bunch must be getting rich, and accumulating all the money that is lost by the others."

"That's easily explained," remarked another of the group. "No one really wins for keeps, or accumulates anything by gambling. When one wins, say $50 or $100, he immediately proceeds to blow it in lavishly. It's easy money, you know, and the winner thinks it will come again as easy, and on this hypothesis proceeds to separate himself as expeditiously as possible from his roll whenever he makes a 'killing.' In a few daws he's broke and a series of 'bob-tails' in the game puts him again on his uppers, so that his only resource is to
'panhandle' his friends. That's why a gambler is always more or less in a condition of impecuniousness.

"What's a good definition for an icele?" asked a Charleroi young lady of a young man with whom she was talking, thinking to spring on him one of the gags worked off in vaudeville at the Palace Theatre last week.

"You are, yourself," was the somewhat disconcerting but apt reply.

FRENCH ZOUAVES.

These Fighters Won Their Greatest
Fame in the Crimea.

One of the most interesting class of soldiers of modern times has been the French corps called the zouaves. This body of daring and picturesquely attired fighters reached the heights of its reputation during the Crimean war.

The zouave corps at that time was supposed to consist of Frenchmen. It was, however, quite international, since many daring young foreigners had joined it, and it was known to include in its ranks men from Oxford, Gottinzen and other universities. It is probable that a majority of its members were in it more for love of fighting than for any love of country.

It is not strange, therefore, that its fame as a fighting body should have spread throughout the world. When our war between the states broke out several corps of zouaves, wearing the glittering oriental uniforms of the French corps of a modification of them, were formed on both sides. On the Union side, the best known was that corps commanded by Elmer Ellsworth, a young officer from New York and the first to fall on the Union side. In the Confederate the most famous corps of zouaves was that called the "Louisiana Tigers."

While in American military life the zouave uniform has practically disappeared, in France the zouave name and uniform still survive.—Harper's

The old plank road leading from Washington to Prosperity will be resurfaced this coming summer from the automobile fund of the state and if funds are at hand the road will be completed to Waynesburg. This was the substance of a statement made by E. M. Bigelow, state highway commissioner to a delegation of Washington and Greene county citizens who waited upon Mr. Bigelow Saturday in the interests of this old highway. This road is known as route No. 109.

to her. In the lockup Monday afternoon the Greek became so very loquacious that his quaint mixture of English and Greek was quite understandable. He practically convicted himself of a serious charge by saying that he and the woman had never been married. When he is placed on the witness stand for the coroner Wednesday it is expected that the complete story will come out. At first he denied that the child was his but later seemed to become somewhat mixed over the matter.

Whether a serious prosecution will be the outcome of the case remains to be seen. There probably has been law violation, but the coroner will endeavor to get at the facts pertaining to the death of the babe. Doctors state that its death might have resulted regardless of neglect, inasmuch as it seems to have been a case of premature birth. The husband of the woman flatly refused to himself take any part in proceedings against her, and said he would willingly receive her into his home again if she would come back.

Coroner Heffran swore in a jury to hear the testimony Wednesday composed of the following: Ira I. Nickerson, foreman; W. A. Murphy, Samuel Crawford, William Darby, Floyd Chalfant and C. W. Jones.

The woman's maiden name it is stated was Elizabeth Sumner, before her marriage to Otto Gerlach and she is said to have lived in Charleroi with her parents several years ago.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

YOUR AMBITION.

Have You a Clear Cut Idea of the Object of Your Desire?

Several years ago, when I filled a position which brought me many visitors each day and many more letters at the same time, I was overburdened with requests for advice from persons who wished "to succeed," "to accomplish," "to attain." But, as strange as the statement may seem to you, I can truthfully say that not one in a hundred of these earnest seekers was able to state exactly what he or she really wanted.

They were dissatisfied and discontented and felt the vague urge of unrest pushing them forward to further endeavor and attainment, but it stopped right there. Ninety-nine out of every hundred did not know what they wanted. They asked not only for advice regarding the means of accomplishment and attainment, but also for information as to what they should really desire.

"Silly," you exclaim. Not a bit of it! I venture to say that you—yes, you who are now reading these lines—are not much better off regarding clear cut ideas and ideals. You want and want, of course, but just what do you want? Have you a clearly defined idea and a clear cut ideal of the object of your desire? CORONER INVESTIGATES PECULIAR LOCAL CASE

The story of what seems to have been a peculiar infatuation of a woman for a tall and handsome young Greek, who lays no claim to a title or distinction—the kind of infatuation that caused her to leave her husband and four small children to take up a questionable destiny with one who could scarcely make himself understood in her tongue—was partly revealed Monday when Coroner James T. Heffran started investigations into the death of an infant born to the woman last Friday. Mike Cresoulie is the name of the Greek and Monessen was his former home.

Coroner Heffran came here with County Detective William McCleary Monday afternoon to unravel some of the mysteries surrounding the death of the child. The story had been told of the alleged neglect of the babe and if it having been laid away for some hours in a dark closet when it was subsequently cared for by a Slavish woman who rendered neighborly kindnesses to the sick mother. Cresoulie was placed in the lockup on Sunday and a nurse procured for the woman with whom he has been living as his wife. He will be kept there until after an inquest to be conducted by Coroner Heffran on Wednesday afternoon.

No marriage ceremony was thought necessary, it seems, when the Greek and the woman, who is only 23 years old, came here from Monessen. Papers of separation had been drawn up between her and her husband, Otto Gerlach of Monessen, according to the husband's story. That was four or five months ago. Cresoulie and the woman, mated by their own volition so peculiarly, occupied the basement of a house on Fallowfield avenue near Ninth street. There they lived quietly until the birth of the child.

The husband, Otto Gerlach, was summoned here from Monessen Monday afternoon to tell his story to Coroner Heffran and County Detective McCleary. He said that he knew of the Greek having met his wife on the street on different occasions and told a sad story of her going away.

"She had informed me she was going to leave," he said. "But the afternoon she went she came to me, dressed for the street and sobbingly said that she wasn't going to leave. Drying her tears she started for the grocery to procure necessities for the Sunday dinner. She failed to show up that night or the next. That—that Greek in the lockup met her, I guess, and she wasn't strong enough to resist his invitation to go away. They went to Pittsburgh where they stayed a short time. An attorney drew up papers of separation later for us. Then I suppose they came to Charleroi."

Rev. Joseph Daniele, who for the past three years has been pastor of the Mother of Sorrows Italian Catholic church in Charleroi, has been transferred to Mahoningtown, a suburb of New Castle, together with the chaplaincy of the New Castle Hospital. He will be succeeded here by Rev. Father Maselli of Monongahela. The latter's church at Monongahela was turned some time ago and as it will not be rebuilt for some time yet, he has been assigned to Charleroi.

During his pastorate here Rev. Daniele has made many friends and established most cordial relations with the people generally to whom he extends his parting regards. While here he has very materially extended his parish, which now numbers about 123 families and he leaves with no indebtedness for his successor to assume. An earnest Christian worker, a conscientious citizen and a thorough gentleman, Rev. Daniele will carry with him the regrets of a wide circle of friends in addition to those of his parishioners whom he has so well and faithfully served. Indianapolis Club to Play Exhibition Baseball Game

Before the Indianapolis Federal league baseball club goes to Pittsburgh on May 6 to play its first game with the Pittsburghers, Charleroi people will have a opportunity to see the team as it will probably be made up for the season in an actual game. Arrangements are being made to play a benefit for the Charleroi playgrounds. Manager Phillips having consented to arrange such an attraction. Perhaps the Charleroi Independents may try their strength against the Indianapolis aggregation or perhaps the game will be from two teams picked from Phillips' men.

Another game that may be arranged before the team makes its getaway is that with the Washington Independents. Manager E. H. Sackville of that organization has written to Manager Phillips asking for a game and the request may be granted.

This morning four of the players who thus far have reported were out for a workout. They were France and Swane, pitchers; Miller an outfielder and Durrell a catcher. Barum a Carnegie lad has reported.

Four players came in this morning. They are Scott, a star third baseman, who last year was in the Central league; Reis a youthful pitcher with loads of promise who was last year in the Central; Beebe of Indianapolis a lad with a record as a twirler and Miller a pitcher of Aspinwall.

It will probably be Thursday before the best kind of work of training will be done. Most of the players are in good shape to begin with having been working out at their homes.

The largest greenhouse along the Monongahela valley that is under a single roof is located at Charleroi. It is the greenhouse owned by I. V. Kinder, the florist, and is located on his property a short distance west of town. Completely filled with spring stock, with geraniums, roses and flowers of various varieties blooming brilliantly and ferns, the greenhouse presents a grand, gorgeous appearance.

Mr. Kinder is an experienced florist and in addition is a good business man. He came here from West Brownsville about three years, buying a portion of the John H. Frye farm west of Charleroi. He established one greenhouse, locating it so as to give southern exposure. Since then his business has expanded through energetic and persistent effort. An extension has been built to the initial greenhouse, until the total length of the present greenhouse is 360 feet, with a 40-foot width.

The spring trade in flowers has just started. Five hundred geraniums were removed Monday and their removal hardly made a dent in the total stock. On Sunday there were close to 18,000 geraniums in pots. They filled the greater portion of the main display greenhouse, but there were ferns and lilies and numerous varieties of plants in this big room. Roses and carnations in various stages of development are on display. Plants of all kinds are there each trying to outvie the other for beauty and splendor. There are about 9,000 carnation plants in bloom.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

vide a public comfort station. This is a public waiting room with toilet
for the accommodation of the public,
railroad station house. If the gov-
be obliged to establish a public com-
empt.

cels until ready to start for home.
Few if any towns ever think of mak-
mostly, but there is no place with
prises if it is provided at all.

trrolley car with no place to wait in
their money.

GAMBLING.

torney Miller to break up gambling
the petty catch penny devices, the basal and racing pools to the poker or two joint is an easy transition and the action of the district attor-

and openly will have a material ef-
schools of crime.

to legitimate recreation and sport
boys. With nothing to take their at-
ed for the express purpose of ex-
selves they can bet on the results of
will continue.

here and Speers?" queried a Char-
question with his delivery wagons.
"I remember very distinctly you
Commissioner Bigelow, who came to
improvement would be made. Bids
as not suitable.

to time that engineers were at work —I know a carp has been quartered
were holding the work up. All I
otherwise get.

"The year 1913 has already got a
sets in."

but the stage of affluence never seem-
the money that is lost by the others."
"That's easily explained," remarked
wins for keeps, or accumulates anything by gambling. When one wins,
thinks it will come again as easy,
makes a 'killing.' In a few days he's
condition of impermanence."

"What's a good definition for an icicle?" asked a Charleroi young
him one of the gags worked off in vaudeville at the Palace Theatre last
week.

"Your are, yourself," was the
ply.

Fame in the Crimea.

soldiers of modern times has been the
tired fighters reached the heights of
its reputation during the Crimean war.
was, however, quite international,
clude in its ranks men from Oxford, Gottingen and other universities. It is
were in it more for love of fighting
than for any love of country.

spread throughout the world. When
glittering oriental uniforms of the French corps or a modification of them, were formed on both sides. On the
corps commanded by Elmer Ellsworth,
a young officer from New York and the first killed on the Union side. In the Confederacy the most famous corps
isiana Tigers."

zouave name has disappeared, the name and uniform still survive.—Harper's Weekly.

The Other One.
"What is the meaning of 'alter ego'?" asked the teacher of the beginners' class in Latin.
"The other I," said the boy with the curly hair.
"Give a sentence containing the phrase."
"He winked his alter ego."

to her. In the lockup Monday afternoon the Greek became so very loquacious that his quaint mixture of English and Greek was quite understandable. He practically convicted himself of a serious charge by saying that he and the woman had never been married. When he is placed on the witness stand for the coroner Wednesday it is expected that the complete story will come out. At first he denied that the child was his but later seemed to become somewhat mixed over the matter.

Whether a serious prosecution will be the outcome of the case remains to be seen. There probably has been law violation, but the coroner will endeavor to get at the facts pertaining to the death of the babe. Doctors state that its death might have resulted regardless of neglect, inasmuch as it seems to have been a case of premature birth. The husband of the woman flatly refused to himself take any part in proceedings against her, and said he would willingly receive her into his home again if she would come back.

Coroner Heffran swore in a jury to hear the testimony Wednesday composed of the following: Ira I. Nickerson, foreman; W. A. Murphy, Samuel Crawford, William Darby, Floyd Chalfant and C. W. Jones.

The woman's maiden name it is stated was Elizabeth Sumner, before her marriage to Otto Gerlach and she is said to have lived in Charleroi with her parents several years ago.

5189, Waist 37-42, Skirt Price, 15 cents each

The fashionable ratine with a plain weave, was the material used for this smart dress. The diagonal line of the tunic is an attractive feature of the costume. Satin in a harmonizing shade makes the very suitable trimming.

For the beautiful summer silks now in vogue no more attractive models can be chosen than the waist and skirt combined in this chic costume. The combination of plain silk in the collar, cuffs and inset with the brocade of the rest of the dress is especially effective.

These are a few of the many materials for summer wear found in our store. Select trimmings of Bulgarian Silks, Satins, laces, etc., and you can be handsomely gowned at little expense. Trimming buttons and braids are much used. We carry a complete line of both to harmonize with these materials.

McCall's Patterns offer you the latest styles in costumes for everybody. They are economical and easily understood. Use them with our Dress Materials and cut your clothing expenses.

YOUR AMBITION.

Have You a Clear Cut Idea of the Object of Your Desire?

Several years ago, when I filled a position which brought me many visitors each day and many more letters at the same time, I was overburdened with requests for advice from persons who wished "to succeed," "to accomplish," "to attain." But, as strange as the statement may seem to you, I can truthfully say that not one in a hundred of these earnest seekers was able to state exactly what he or she really wanted.

They were dissatisfied and discontented and felt the vague urge of unrest pushing them forward to further endeavor and attainment, but it stopped right there. Ninety-nine out of every hundred did not know what they wanted. They asked not only for advice regarding the means of accomplishment and attainment, but also for information as to what they should really desire.

"Silly," you exclaim. Not a bit of it. I venture to say that you—yes, you who are now reading these lines—are no much better off regarding clear cut ideas and ideals. You want and want and want, of course, but just what do you want? Have you a clearly defined idea and a clear cut ideal of the object of your desire? Honor bright now, have you?
